And from the disease management tools, or from multiple other sites in the EMR.

When the Lab Results link is accessed, the system searches for the current or most recent laboratory results for the patient being evaluated. This takes a few seconds as multiple fields are being queried.

Once the Lab Results fields are populated, the lab results will appear on the chart note for the current encounter.

It is now possible to create a Document with the Lab Results on it by depressing the button entitled Document. This document can be printed and given to the patient if desired.

When reviewing the lab results ordered for a present encounter through Work Flow, it is possible to add those results to the Lab Results template by re-accessing Lab Results. Then, if the chart note is re-generated, the current evaluation will have the current lab work printed on it.
